FCC REPORTS DESPIERTA AMERICA SEPTEMBER 16-30 PART II

9/16/2010

OBAMA ECONOMY

VO: 21

As he ramps up his election-year struggle with Republicans over tax cuts, President Barack Obama is also turning his attention today to other parts of the economy. Obama is hosting a meeting of his export advisory council to talk about his hope of sharply increasing what America sells to the world. Later, he's detailing plans to expand his "Educate to Innovate" campaign that aims to bolster math, science and tech teaching. Those are areas which, in his view, are vital to America's economic future.

FORECLOSURE RATES

VO: 19

New foreclosure data shows lenders took back more homes in August than in any month since the start of the U.S. mortgage crisis three years ago. Foreclosure listing service RealtyTrac Inc. says 95,364 homes were repossessed by lenders last month. That's an increase of 25 percent from the same month last year and up 3 percent from July's tally. The previous high was in May. Meanwhile, the number of properties entering the foreclosure process slowed for the seventh month in a row. That's because lenders are letting borrowers who have missed payments stay in their homes longer so they can delay adding to their backlog of bad loans.

OIL SPILL / MORATORIUM- COST

VO: 23

The economic costs of the Obama administration's six-month moratorium on deepwater drilling in the Gulf of Mexico will be less severe than first feared, according to a U.S. government report released Thursday. The inter-agency report, which was based on economic data and interviews with oil rig operators, projected up to 12,000 temporary job losses in the region -- a lower figure than the 23,000 projected in an earlier Interior Department report. "We estimate that the six-month moratorium may temporarily result in up to 8,000 to 12,000 fewer jobs in the Gulf Coast," the report said. "These jobs would not be permanently lost as a result of the moratorium; most would return following the resumption of deepwater drilling in the Gulf of Mexico."

OBAMA IMMIGRATION

VO: 23

President Barack Obama appealed to Hispanics on Wednesday to support Democrats in the November elections despite his failed promise to pass an immigration overhaul. "Don't forget who is standing with you," the president said as he blamed Republicans for standing in the way of progress. Less than two month before midterm elections that could prove disastrous for Democrats who run Congress, Obama acknowledged the disappointment among Latinos over the immigration issue and pledged anew to keep pushing for a comprehensive overhaul of the nation's immigration laws.

SWINE FLU CAN BECOME DRUG-RESISTANT QUICKLY: STUDY

VO: 27

A swine flu virus infecting a woman in Singapore mutated into a drug-resistant form virtually overnight, doctors reported in a study that they say shows the limitations of using drugs to treat influenza. While the woman recovered, the mutation developed within 48 hours, rendering the infection increasingly resistant to the effects of Tamiflu, the main drug used to fight flu and which is known generically as oseltamivir.

OBAMA CONSUMER PROTECTION

VO: 21

President Barack Obama on Friday plans to announce Wall Street critic Elizabeth Warren as a special adviser overseeing the creation of a new consumer protection agency. Warren will report to both the president and Treasury Secretary Timothy Geithner (GYT'-nur). She'll have the job of starting the consumer bureau established in the financial regulatory bill Obama signed into law earlier this year.

BORDER GOVERNORS

VO: 27

Mexican and U.S. governors called on Monday for an overhaul of federal immigration policy at the XXVIII Special Border Governors Conference. However, the governor of New Mexico, Bill Richardson, said it is not realistic to expect the U.S. Congress to act on the controversial issue before the November general election.

RECESSION OVER?

VO: 29

The group that tracks the beginning and the end of recessions says the long recession that the United States recently endured came to an end in June of last year. The National Bureau of Economic Research says the recession lasted 18 months. It started in December 2007 and ended in June 2009. That was the longest of any recession since World War II.

OBESITY COSTS

VO: 28

Obesity is a burden not only to health but also for the U.S. economy, especially for women, according to a new report released Tuesday. Doctors have long known that medical costs are higher for obese people in the United States but account for only a portion of the costs they face in real life.

PROHIBIT SMOKING HELPS CONTROL ASTHMA IN CHILDREN

VO: 28

New research shows that in public places where smoking is prohibited it prevents many children with asthma to be hospitalized, a finding that suggests that the legislation providing for smoke free places have even greater benefits to health than previously thought. Other studies have followed the decline in rates of stroke in adults after they were implemented the no smoking places.

SALMON FDA

VO: 22

If the Food and Drug Administration approves the engineered fish for human consumption, the agency then will have to decide the label it will carry in grocery stores. According to FDA rules, the fish will not be labeled as genetically modified if the agency decides it has the same material makeup as conventional salmon. It is still unclear whether the agency will approve the fish, which was created by a Massachusetts company and grows twice as fast as its conventional counterparts. FDA officials reviewed the science of the modified fish Monday and will hold a hearing Tuesday to discuss the labeling issue, which has many food safety and consumer groups concerned.

BREAST CANCER

VO:30

Some breast cancer patients recover equally well with less invasive surgery to remove their some lymph nodes who are subjected to aggressive operation is normally used and eliminates all nodes, according to a new study. In the biggest test has been done to compare both procedures, U.S. and Canadian researchers found that it is not necessary that patients with early cancer breast gets more invasive surgery to live longer.

CYBER-BULLYING CAUSES MORE DEPRESSION, STUDY FINDS

VO :17

Cyber-bullying may be even harder on the victims than physical beatings or name-calling, U.S. researchers reported on Tuesday. And unlike traditional bullies, cyber-bullies seem to be less depressed than their prey, the team at the National Institutes of Health found.

OBAMA HEALTHCARE OVERHAUL

VO: 25

President Barack Obama once told Democratic lawmakers they'd be proud to campaign on historic health care legislation. Six months later, the only Democrats running ads about it are the ones who voted "no." Now, with crucial midterm elections approaching, the White House is preparing to use the law's six-month anniversary to reintroduce it to skeptical voters and trumpet new reforms that are taking effect, such as new coverage for preventive care and young adults and a ban on canceling insurance for someone who falls ill. Democrats are packaging the provisions, which kick in Thursday, as a "Patient's Bill of Rights," and Obama is advertising them Wednesday at an event in Virginia with beneficiaries.

OBAMA-ECONOMIC ADVISER

VO: 23

The departure of President Barack Obama's top economic adviser at the end of the year could provide the White House with an opportunity to revamp its economic team after the November elections, when voters are expected to take out their anxieties on Democrats. The White House said Tuesday that Lawrence Summers, director of the National Economic Council, would leave at the end of the year to return to Harvard University. Though administration officials said Obama had known for some time that Summers would depart this year, news of his pending exit comes amid deep concern over the sluggish pace of the recovery, as well as criticism of the team that conceived the administration's economic policies.

GAYS-MILITARY

VO: 28

The U.S. Senate Tuesday blocked a measure that would let homosexuals serve openly in the military, in a setback for one of President Barack Obama's policy goals. Sixty votes were needed for debate to begin on the bill authorizing defense programs and repeal of the policy known as "don't ask, don't tell." Just 56 senators voted yes and 43 no, but the measure will probably have another chance this year.

INFANT FORMULA RECALL

VO: 25

Abbott Laboratories Inc <ABT.N> said it is voluntarily recalling millions of containers of its top-selling Similac powdered infant formulas after beetles were found in the products and in a Michigan plant where they are made. Abbott said on Wednesday that the recall, which could result in $100 million of lost revenue, comes after reports by two consumers of contamination, and its inspection of an area of the plant in Sturgis, Michigan, where beetles or their larvae were found.

HEALTH CARE REFORM

LIVE INTERVIEW 2:00

Several key consumer protections under the nation's new health law begin taking effect Thursday - six months after its enactment. Insurers can no longer set a dollar limit on the amount of care they'll provide over a person's lifetime or deny coverage to sick children. Young adults can stay on their parents' health plans until age 26. And consumers get greater rights to appeal insurers' decisions. Many people, however, will have to wait until Jan. 1 for the changes to help them. That's because most of the new provisions apply to insurance policies that begin on or after Thursday. Many plans operate on a calendar year, and this fall will begin enrollment for next year.

NATIONAL CHILDREN STUDY

VO: 20

The National Institutes of Health announced Wednesday that 30 new study locations are about to start recruiting for the National Children's Study, the largest, long-term look at children's health ever conducted in the United States. It aims to follow 100,000 children from before birth to age 21 to understand how the foods they eat, water they drink and chemicals they are exposed to interact with their genes to cause or prevent diseases. The study launched in Salt Lake County, along with six other locations, last year. So far, 255 Utah women have joined and 103 babies have been born into the study. The study is still in a pilot phase. Cache County is part of a test of recruitment strategies. Instead of recruiters knocking on doors, as they are in Salt Lake County, women in the half of Cache County that is eligible to participate will receive a questionnaire in the mail. Those that are interested and fit the criteria - they plan to become pregnant - will be enrolled.

ILLEGAL GUNS

VO:20

A report being released Monday by a mayors group finds that nearly half of the guns that crossed state lines and were used in crimes in 2009 were sold in just 10 states. Those states accounted for nearly 21,000 guns connected to crimes in other states, says the survey by Mayors Against Illegal Guns, an association of more than 500 mayors led by New York's Michael Bloomberg and Boston's Thomas Menino. The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives traced more than 145,000 guns used in crimes in 2009 and found that more than 43,000 guns were sold in other states. Forty-nine percent of those guns were sold in Georgia, Florida, Virginia, Texas, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, California or Arizona.

COSTLY CANCER DRUGS

VO: 26

Cancer patients, brace yourselves. Many new drug treatments cost nearly $100,000 a year, sparking fresh debate about how much a few months more of life is worth.

U.S INTELLIGENCE TO SPY ON THE INTERNET

VO: 19

The government of President Barack Obama is preparing a new legislation which would facilitate law enforcement and U.S. intelligence to spy on the Internet and learn about electronic messages, such as social networking and multifunction phones like the BlackBerry, said on Monday The New York Times. The White House plans to introduce a bill next year that would require all Internet services that enable their communication systems are technically equipped with functions that allow you to comply with an order of spying if they are asking the government

OBAMA CAMPAIGNING

VO :17

President Barack Obama will explain his policies in visits to four states Tuesday and Wednesday. Obama will talk about his record on the economy, health care and other topics during backyard visits. The first stop is Albuquerque, N.M.

CENSUS-RECESSION'S IMPACT

VO :19

The income gap between the richest and poorest Americans grew last year to its widest amount on record. New census figures show that young adults and children in particular struggled to stay afloat in the recession. The top-earning 20 percent of Americans -- those making more than $100,000 each year -- received 49.4 percent of all income generated in the U.S. That's compared with the 3.4 percent earned by those below the poverty line.

WORLD STIMULUS SURVEY

VO :19

A new poll indicates that citizens in many countries are divided on the merits of government stimulus programs. The BBC World Service poll out today finds that those in nations which have already spent heavily are more apt to express opposition to economic stimulus plans. The broadcaster says in its poll of more than 22,000 people in 22 countries, that support for increased government spending to boost the economy ranged from a low of 30 percent to a high of 80 percent.

OBAMA - WI/ IOWA CAMPAIGNING

VO: 21

President Barack Obama defended his economic policies Wednesday as he faced tough questions from skeptical Americans less than five weeks before congressional elections that threaten his fellow Democrats' grip on Congress. Holding the latest in a series of backyard meetings with middle-class voters, Obama heard one small business man's fears that his tax plans could "strangle" job creation. The president also fielded concerns about high unemployment and the impact of his healthcare overhaul.

NOGALES MAYOR ARRESTED

VO: 20

The mayor of Nogales was arrested Tuesday by FBI agents on multiple charges including bribery, theft, fraud and money laundering, Arizona's attorney general said. Mayor Octavio Garcia Von Borstel, 29, was taken into custody at his office at Nogales City Hall. Search warrants were executed at his home, business and office. The mayor's father, Octavio Suarez Garcia, 59, of Nogales, was also indicted and arrested Tuesday. He faces several charges that include fraud, theft and money laundering.

MEDICARE DRUG PLANS

VO: 20

Seniors with high drug costs will soon have more options to help them cope with Medicare's prescription coverage gap. Reversing a steady decline, the number of prescription plans covering at least some brand-name drugs in the "doughnut hole" coverage gap will triple next year, from 35 to 106. That's according to an analysis of Medicare data to be released Wednesday by Avalere Health, a private research firm. At least two plans covering some brand-name drugs in the gap will be available in every region of the country. Overall, one-third of plans will offer gap coverage, up from one-fifth this year. Some only provide generics.

PARENTS' DRINKING MAY BE RISK FACTOR FOR SIDS

VO: 20

Parents and caretakers who drink alcohol may put infants at a higher risk for sudden infant death syndrome (SIDS), new research suggests. Researchers at the University of California-San Diego found that SIDS cases occur 33 percent more often on New Year's Day than any other day of the year, which is also when more people drink alcohol than at any other time of year.

SENADOR MENÉNDEZ IMMIGRATION REFORM

VO: 23

Last night, Senator Robert Menendez (D-NJ) and Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy filed the Comprehensive Immigration Reform Act of 2010. America's Voice is issuing a three page and one page summary of the legislation. According to Frank Sharry, Executive Director of America's Voice: "With the introduction of comprehensive immigration reform legislation, Senator Robert Menendez (D-NJ) and Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy (D-VT) are signaling that comprehensive immigration reform remains a top priority, helping to put the movement fighting for immigration reforms back on offense, and challenging Republicans to lead, follow or get out of the way."

ADHD KIDS GENETICS

VO: 19

A new study in the Lancet provides the first direct evidence that genetic abnormalities are responsible for attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder, ADHD. Although previous research had shown that ADHD can be inherited, no specific genes have been identified before that seem to underlie this condition. But that doesn't mean that someone with these particular genetic markers will have ADHD, experts say. "This tells us that there is a biological marker that tells us that this person is susceptible to develop this disease," said Dr. Robert Marion, chief of genetics and developmental medicine at the Children's Hospital at Montefiore and Albert Einstein College of Medicine, who was not involved in the study. Researchers led by Dr. Nigel Williams at the Cardiff University School of Medicine in Wales fully analyzed data from 366 children with ADHD and 1,047 who did not have ADHD.

CONGRESS-CHILD NUTRITION

VO: 26

First lady Michelle Obama's campaign for healthier school lunches has stalled in Congress after anti-hunger groups and more than 100 Democrats protested the use of food stamp dollars to pay for it. Passage of the child nutrition bill, which would improve lunches in schools and expand feeding programs for low-income students, has been a priority for Democrats and hunger groups for years. But the groups and many members of the House switched sides when leaders proposed a vote on a Senate-passed version of the legislation that uses future funding for food stamp programs to pay for part of the $4.5 billion cost.
